TEAM WORK

COLLABORATION IS THE NAME OF THE GAME.

WRITTEN BY KAITLIN CLARK

HARTMANN&FORBES X MAX HUMPHREY You could say this collection of window coverings brings out the best of the American spirit of design, at least through Max Humphrey's eyes. As his tour bus crossed the continental 48, he drank it all in before settling into his second act: design world darling. Expect to see classic, national park lodge-esque patterns, like a reimagined bandana or 50s kitchen table-style checkers, dripping in primary colors—red and blue, to be sure—tied together with artisanal craftsmanship, in his new collection with Hartmann&Forbes, available through CAI Designs, launching Fall 2021.

JANUS ET CIE X PAOLA NAVONE JANUS et Cie's traditional Italian countryside aesthetic and starchitect Paola Navone's avant-garde style are a perfect example of opposites coming together in design, with the launch of their new collaboration, Chopstix, an al fresco dining collection. Bold and divergent colors, textures, and materials create a surprising and elevated harmony and a fun vibe. Even the construction of the dining collection reflects a blend of old and new: the macro weaving motif honors ancient weaving techniques while exuding contemporary allure.
